GOOD PRICES FOR SHIRE HORSES. Mr. Gilbey's sale of shire horses at Elsenham Hall was a complete success, the average for forty lots being nearly £119. The bidding was brisk through-Particularly good prices were given for young stock of Mr. Gilbey's own breeding. The highest price of the sale was £335, which Mr. James Blyth paid for Tudor Rose, a very fine two-year-old filly. A GREAT WARSHIP'S OFFICIAL TRIAL

Last Thursday the Hood had a most successful official trial of her machinery off Nore under very fair conditions of sea weather. She is the largest turret ship in the world. She is a sister to the Royal Sovereign, except that her big guns are mounted turrets instead of barbettes. She ran for four hears continuously under forced draught with one inch air pressure in the stokeholds, and the engines developed a mean horsepower of 11,445, giving the ship an average speed of seventeen knots. The Admiralty had only stipulated for 11,000 horsepower. we have only one disposable ironclad, the Benbow, so it may be hoped that the Hood will be pushed forward to completion will all dispatch. The worst of it is that, though we keep on adding new ships to the Navy, we have neither officers nor men to put one of the brilliant occurrences to mark the closing of the fa-hiomable season, the last of the three subsciption balls presided over by that famous organizaknown as the Patriarchs, took place last night The ball was as beautiful as any o the season, and was quite up to the standard of the organization, which has now passed the twentieth rear of its existence. Delmonico's rooms were handsomely decorated with spring flowers, the prevailing tone being white and yellow. As is the custom the ridors were lined with palms and plants, and here and there bunches of flowers. Under the mirrors in the ballroom were long boxes filled with talips, hyacinths and daffodils. The red room was arranged for dancing to as to give the late-comers a chance for round dances while the cotillon was in progress in the ball-room. The cotillon was danced before supper, this change finding much favor. Franklin Bartlett led with Miss Edith Kipp, who wore a handsome gown of mauve satin and table embroidered with silver. Lander's orchestra played in the ballroom, and the the red room. There was only one favor figure in the cotillen, the favors consisting of corsage bouquets of white and yellow flowers with pale green ribbons for the women, and the men. The cotillon began at 11:30 o'clock, and supper was served in the retarant at 1:15. Dancing was resumed for a brief space after supper. Among the strangers present were Mr. and Mrs. G. R. EAST TO WEST.

AN OBE ON THE COLUMBIAN EXHIBITION.

Sunset smiles on sunrise; East and West are one, face to face in heaven before the sovereign sun, as the springs of the dawn everlasting a glory renews and transfigures the West, and the depths of the sunset a light as of morning enkindles the broad sea's breast, that the hands and the skies and the waters are glad of the day's and the night's work done.

Child of dawn and regent on the world-wide sea, kngland smiles on Europe, fair as dawn and free, of the waters that gird her are purer, nor mightler the winds that her waters know, at America, daughter and sister of England, is praised of them, far as they flow; Atlantic responds to Pacific, the praise of her days that have been and shall be. 111.

So from England westward let the watchword fly.
So for England eastward let the seas reply;
raise, honor and love everlasting be sent on the wind's wings, westward and east, hat the pride of the past and the pride of the future
may mingle as friends at feast, and the sons of the lords of the world-wide seas
be one till the world's life die.

OPERA IN DANGER.

SMALL HOPE OF SAVING THE METROPOLI-TAN

A POSTPONEMENT OF THE AUCTION SALE RE-FUSED-IT WILL TAKE PLACE TO-DAY.

The cast of the die that is to determine the fate of the Metropolitan Opera House will be made to day.

The hope of saving the big theatre for future productions of opera seems less distinct than at any previous time in the last two weeks, and it is much to be feared that unless help comes from some quarter whence there is as yet no positive reason to expect it the house must be sacrificed to other uses. The property of the Metropolitan Opera House Company and of the Metropolitan Improvement Company, including the whole of the space and building bounded by Broadway, Seventh ave., Thirty-ninth-st. and Fortleth-st., is to be sold by auction to-day at noon, at the salesroom of the Real Estate Exchange, under foreclosure of the mortgage held by the Bowery Savlings Bank. An effort was made yesterday to have the sale postponed for two weeks in order that the committee which has been trying to form a company to buy the house for the continuance of opera might have more time to gain subscribers, but it was unsuccessful, and the sale will go on as advertised.

For two weeks Henry Clews, J. Pierpont Morgan and Charles Lanier have been working to organize the new company. They wanted thirty-four subscribers at $30,000 each. Up to a week ago George Henry Warren was also making efforts to secure a company of twenty stockholders at $50,000 each. ago he withdrew his plan as unsuccessful, in order that Mr. Clews and his committee might have the field to themselves. Mr. Clews yesterday announced the following list of subscribers to his company: Renry Clews, George Peabody Wetmore, George Henry Warren, J. Hood Wright, George Bowdoin, J. Pierpont Morgan, Levi P. Morton, George Bliss, R. T. Wilson, William D. Sloane, Edward Cooper, J. C. Parrish, William K. Vanderbilt, Cornelius Vanderbilt, John Jacob Astor, William C. Whitney, H. McK. Twombly, C. P. Huntington, Mrs. Anna Woerishoffer and W

These of course would not be sufficient for carrying out the plan as it was originally arranged and agreed upon. There were a few more subscribers who were not members of the old company, and these were invited last week to join the forces for the protection of opera, but Mr. Clews found yesterday that by the of his plan as originally set before the stockholders he could not accent subscriptions from outside the old company, so they will not be counted Feeling that the gaining of a little time would be of great importance to his scheme, Mr. Clews yesterday sent the following letter to the attorneys of the Opera House Company :

Messrs, Olin & Rives, atterners for the Metropolitan Opera House Company, also for the Metropolitan Opera House second mortaige bondholders. Dear Sits: Please let me have the decision in answer to the steckholders' reorganization committee's application for a postponement of two weeks of the sale of the Metropolitan Opera House Company and the Metropolitan Improvement Company properties. Yours very truly, HENRY CLEWS, Chairman

N. B. It is quite important to have a postponement to admit of a hearing from a large number of stocaholders travelling in Europe, as I told your Mr. Rives on Satur-

To this Mr. Clows received the following reply Mr. Henry Clews, chairman, etc.:

Dear Sir: In reply to the request of your committee for a postponement of the forcelesure sale of the propertie of the Metropolitan Opera House Company and of the Mct opolitan Improvement Company, we beg to inform you that after taking into account all the interests involved we have decided that the sale shall take place as at present arranged for. OLIN & RIVES, Amorneys.

A similar request was made to James A. Roosevelt president of the Metropolitan Opera House Company, in the following letter:

James A. Roosevelt, esq., president, 33 Wall-st., city.

Dear Sir: The committee appointed at the stockholders' meeting held January 30 last for the purpose of securing thirty-four stockholders at $30,000 each to purchase the thirty-four stockholders at $30,000 each to purchase the Metropolitan Opera House property at the auction sale have progressed to such an extent as to encourage their belief in final success, but require additional time to obtain answers from a considerable number of stockholders who are absent from the city travelling. In view of the fact that should the sale take place to-morrow as advertised the stockholders who have certainly borne their chare of the expense in the past are liable to lose all their rights and title to the property, we therefore ask you to have the sale postponed for say two weeks, believing that within that period thirty-four stockholders, as required by the resolution, can be secured. Respectfully yours.

HENRY CLEWS J. PIERPONT MORGAN, CHARLES LANIER,

The answer to this letter was equally discouraging, and was as follows: Messrs. Henry Clews, J. Plerpout Margan, Charles cheme for continuing opera in its old residence, I am scheme for continuing opera in its old residence, I am advised on consulting my counsel that the consent of all the lien holders to any proposition for adjourning the sale should first be obtained. As a trustee for the stock-holders, with every desire to realize the largest possible amount for them, I certainly think that any postponement, if your scheme should fall through, would greatly endanger their interests. Regretting that I cannot comply with their interests. Regretting that I cannot comply with your request, I am. Sincerely yours.

J. A. ROOSEVELT, President.

There is, of course, still a glimmer of hope for those who desire to hear opera at the Metropolitan again. The committee may get more subscriptions by noon to-day, as it may possibly decide to make a bid for the property with the subscribers it has. A possibility suggested some days ago is that the Metropolitan Im-provement Company, which has the second lien on the property, may buy it and continue to control the apartments in the Broadway front of the building. apartments in the Broadway front of the building, while it rents the rest for the purpose of opera. There is the chance, on the other hand, that the purchase may be made by some independent person or company as a real estate speculation, and there is always the chance that the house may be sold for some purpose not yet counted upon at all. When everything is considered, the chance that the Metropolitan Opera House will be restored to its former uses seems more than dublous.

Mr. Francis Busoni, who effected his first appearance in this city as a solo planist at the third con cert of the Philharmonic Society a month ago, played kranz. The concert was a private one, in the hall of the club, a return having been made this season to the custom which the Liederkranz unwisely aban d ned last year. Mr. Busoni has conquered recogni-tion as an artist of eminent rank both here and in Boston, where he now lives. He is an Italian whose tastes and training are German. There is no questioning his sincerity, and his technical equip-ment is superb. He is a lach scholar, and a tran-scription for planoforte of the Chaconne for violin must be set down as a work of much more than ordinary merit. His performance of Liszt's second concerto last Sunday evening, though embarrassed by wretched accompaniment, was thoroughly admirable the occasional hardness of his tone proving less offen-sive in Liszt's music than in the G major concerto of Beethoven, which he played at the Philharmoni alled "An Indian Love Song," by Heinrich Zoellner, conductor of the Llederkranz, was sung at Sunday night's concert. It is a setting of lines from Long-fell w's "Hiawatha" and its melody has the characteristics of some Indian music. The chief feature of the evening, however, was a performance of Schu-mann's music to the third part of Goethe's "Faust." one of the most beautiful works which choral litera-

The coming of the French opera company from New-Orleans is timely, in view of the efforts making to re-establish opera in New-York. It will be interesting to note what kind of a company it is that New-Orleans is able to maintain season after season. The most interesting and valuable of the musica articles which "The Century Magazine" has published in the series begun a year or so ago is that which graces the current number. Its subject is Liszt, and the writer is none other than Camille Saint-Saens, the greatest of French musicians since Berlioz. M. Saint-Saens is a profound admirer of Liszt's music, and speaks of 4t and its creator with unreserved enthusiasm. He had already shown his appreciation of the art-form introduced by Liszt by initiating it in his symphonic poems, "La Danse Macabre," "Le Roset d'Omphaie" and "Le Jennesse de Hervele." In the Open Letters department of the same magazine Mis-Fanny Morris Smith prints a study of modern planoforte players which is an excellent pendant to the enthusiastic sketch of Paderewsid written by her last year. Miss Smith is a most devoted worker in the field of musical pedagogies. Not long ago she published a book (G. Schirmer, New-York) on the principles of planoforte construction which disclosed remarkable knowledge of the practical side of planoforte building. She was not content with the things to be pleked out of books, but spent days in studying the workmen at their benches in one of the New-York factories. The fitte of her book is "A Noble Art," which is vague, but the defect is easily pardoned. greatest of French musicians since Berlioz. M. Saint Saens is a profound admirer of Liszt's music, an

At the Harlem Opera House last night an exceed ingly good audience, considering the weather, welcomed the return to town of E. H. Sothern. He is a favorite here, as he is everywhere he plays, and his appear nnce is always one of the pleasant incidents of the season. His present play is Miss Merrington's "Cap-tain Lettarblair," which was given with great success at the Lyceum Theatre all through his long season there last summer and autumn. The play is bright and entertaining and Mr. Sothern's impersonation of the young Irish soldler is especially so. It is excellently played throughout by the same company which wa seen in it at the Lyceum. All the parts are it competent hands, and the whole performance of th piece is most enjoyable. Mr. Sothern will undoubt-edly have a prosperous week in Harlem, especially a-this is announced as his last engagement in New York for this season, and it may therefore, offer the last op-portunity to see him in "Captain Lettarbiair."

Signora Duse entered upon the last week of he engagement at the Fifth Avenue Theatre last night repeating her able and effective performance in the sophistical and unpleasant play of "Fernande." nora Duse has not disturbed the laurels of Rachel and Ristori, but she has manifested talents of a high order, and justified her claim to rank among the mos natural actors of the age. She will not on Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, . . . Mrs. Potter and Mr. Bellew again presented themselves before the local public again presented themselves before the local public last night, appearing at the Fourteenth Street, in an adaptation of one of the most unsavory of modern French plays. The disposition of these performers to identify themselves with unwholesome pieces seems not wise. Their proceedings, however, are not im-portant, and have ceased to be interesting. The plecin which they are now disporting is called "The Marriage Spectre." It was offered here some time ago, under another name, and was generally con-demned. . . Mr. sothern made his recutrance his night at the Harlem Opera House as Captain Letter night at the Hariem Opera House is Captain Lettar blatr, and was cordially welcomed. A revival of "The Lost Faradise," by the late H. C. De Mille, was agreeably effected at the Grand Opera House. An afternoon performance of "The Taming of the Shrew" will occur at Daly's Theatre today. The Shrew" will occur at Paly's Theore Usery. The production of "Twelfth Night" is announced for the 21st. Particular attention will be given to the music for that comedy. . . Mr. Charles Prohman's company of comedians may be seen to night at the standard Theore, in "The Sportsman," adapted by Mr. W. ITEMS OF NEWS FROM THE SOUTHERN SOCIETY. The trustees of the Southern Society have severely eprimanded Wilton Randolph for the remark he made to ex Congressman John S. Wise in the clubhouse Mr. Randolph met Mr. Wise in the corridor and aske. him if he had been delivering the Republican speeches as reported in the papers. Mr. Wise said he had, and Mr. Randolph said;

"Then I don't want to have snything more to de with you." Mr. Wise did not lose his temper, but passed off. The trustees considered this introduction of politics into the club as most improper, and did not spare Mr. Randolph's feelings in telling him so. They thought that Mr. Wise might better have paid no attention to Mr. Randolph's question, but accepted his resignation with regret. It is expected that the dinner of the society at the Madison Square Garden Assembly Rooms, on February 22, will be of rare interest. Dr. J. H. Parker will preside, and Joseph H. Choate, John G. Carlisle enator Z. B. Vance, of North Carolina; Congressman John Allen, of Mississippl, and Joshah Quincy, of Massachusetts, will deliver addresses. All the boxes have been sold, and there will be a large attendance of women as specialors. The dinner will be the seventh nanual one of the society.

MAKING OFFICIAL CALLS.

THE HAWAIIAN ENVOYS ENTER WASHING-TON SOCIETY.

FORMALLY RECOGNIZED ACCORDING TO OF-FICIAL ETIQUETTE-WORKING ON

THE TREATY. THE TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.

Washington, Feb. 13,-Official etiquette determine the formal recognition by society here of representa-tives of foreign governments accredited to the Govern-ment of the United States. Whether ministers or envoys on special missions, the first step is their to the President. The presentation, therefore, of the special envoys of the Provisional Government of Hawall to the President on Saturday has given them an official status and placed them on an equal footing with the Diplomatic Corps.
To-day, according to official eliquette, the envoys made formal calls on the Vice-President and the Cabinet officers. Within the week calls will follow on the Justices of the Supreme Court, Senators and the members of the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House. On their round of official visits the Hawatians will be accompanied by Mr. Mott smith, who, ten days ago, was the Hawaiian Queen's Min-ister in this country, but with the accomplishment of the revolution became Minister of the new Provisional Government.

Speaking of the social and official side of the mission here Mr. Castle, one of the Commissioners,

"I am not very well up in these things, but I understand the reception and official recognition given by the President now makes it proper for us to make such calls as eliquette requires of representatives of foreign governments. So we start out to-day in this pleasant duty. We esteem it an honor to pay our respects to American officials."

After a brief pause Mr. Castle added; "We had our cards engraved so they would be ready. If things turned out as we hoped, why, of course, we should use them." "And if things had turned out otherwise, what

"Then," he replied, "it would have been a great waste of pasteboard." "What are you going to do to haster the business

"Lose no time in doing our part of the work," was Mr. Cast'o's prompt reply. "We came to Washington with full powers to treat for annexation. The acceptance of our credentials by the President on Saturday places us in a position to negotiate a treaty. In our several conferences with the Secretary of State we had already gone over the ground pretty thoroughly in detail, though somewhat in the manner of informal talks. All this will, of course, expedite the work now of putting the terms of the treaty in proper and official form. I do not think there is any doubt about an agreement on the terms. We are ready to trust to the wisdom, judgment and generosity of the United States Government. While our business is conducted exclusively with the Secretary of State, It rests with the President to recommend the treaty to the Senate for ratification. But we shall remain here at any rate until something definite is determined

SPRING WHEAT MILLERS IN A TRUST.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 13.-In regard to the alleged millers' trust, it was stated here to-day that for more than three months the leading spring wheat millers in the belt bounded by Buffalo, St. Louis and Minneapolis have been trying to form an organization looking to the control of the price of flour. The scheme is said to have originated with Mr. Hubtard, of Mankato, Minn., and all the meetings have been held in Chicago. Most of the spring wheat millers in Buffalo, Chicago, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Minacapolis and tributary points have finally got into the organization, which is now under full headway. with all the necessary officers and committees. The with all the necessary of the seen this afternoon do millers of Minnesota who were seen this afternoon do not deny that there is on foot a movement looking to the formation of an association of all prominent millers in the spring wheat belt, but they do deny that the organization will have anything to do with controlling prices. A minimum price may be agreed upon, but no maximum. The idea is to have prices open so that every miller in the association may know what every other miller is getting for his goods. In this way the millers will unite against the buyer, who is responsible for cuts in prices.
